

Bathing Suits and Trade Names.

In a report of the fashion show of the National Garment Retailers' Association, published in THE TIMES yesterday, one of the exhibits, a bathing suit with dark blue and white horizontal stripes, was referred to generically as an "Annette Kellerman." This is however, now a copyrighted trade name. The suit in question was one known as the Uknit model. It was entered in the fashion show by D. Nusbaum & Co.

To Hold Merchandise Fair.

Beginning Feb. 11 and continuing through Feb. 16, the New York Merchandise Fair will be held at the 165th Regiment Armory. Lines of Easter, Spring and Summer merchandise to retail from 5 cents to $5 will be shown by 200 manufacturers, importers and distributors. The management of the enterprise stated yesterday that the larger amount of display space has been sold, with only a few booths remaining. The exhibit will be open only to the trade.
